3. Measures to comprehensively promote the legalization of Party building work in colleges and universities

In the education of Party members, student teaching, cadre training and theoretical propaganda, we should highlight the education of the rule of law thought and the spirit of the rule of law, take the Party discipline education seriously, enhance the educational effect through typical cases and cases, make the Party discipline and national law education become one of the basic contents of daily learning education, and make the rule of law literacy and discipline consciousness become the basic indicators for examining Party members and cadres. In the construction of campus culture, we should integrate the content of the rule of law, make good use of the advantages of the propaganda media, carry out legal activities such as 12.4 and 3.15, truly achieve multi-form, three-dimensional and deep-level cultural propaganda, and create a good atmosphere of the rule of law on campus.

3.2 Comprehensive supervision is an effective means for the legalization of Party building work

The ultimate goal of Party building in colleges and universities is to promote the development of the school. The quality of Party building has a direct impact on the speed of school development, which must be supervised by teachers and students and by the Party itself. First of all, we should strengthen the disclosure of Party affairs, establish and improve the normalized disclosure system of Party affairs information, timely and actively disclose information according to regulations, enhance the credibility of public information, timely feedback on the application for information disclosure of Party members of teachers and students, and comprehensively and accurately disclose the application information. When formulating the school's key development plan, annual work points and the report of the teachers' congress, we should widely solicit opinions and suggestions from teachers, students and democrats, and do a good job in conference publicity and answering questions on related issues. Secondly, it is necessary to strengthen inner-Party supervision. The school Party committee should respect the discipline inspection commission to independently carry out supervision and discipline enforcement activities, establish and improve the inner-Party 'big supervision' system of comprehensive supervision of the Party committee, special supervision of the discipline inspection commission, mutual supervision of departments, and democratic supervision of Party members, and effectively form a joint force of supervision. The supervision department of the university discipline inspection commission should make good use of the “ four forms “ of supervision and discipline enforcement, carry out good daily supervision and key supervision, make good use of the supervision results, deal with the illegal and discipline-violating Party members in time, and create a clean and upright political atmosphere for cadres to start their own businesses.

The Party organization should firmly establish political consciousness, overall situation consciousness, core consciousness and alignment consciousness, and adhere to the comprehensive and strict administration of the Party and the construction of a clean and honest Party style. Firmly grasp on the hands and shoulders, the university Party committee should fulfill the main responsibility, the team members should fulfill the ‘ one post and two responsibilities ‘, and consolidate the direct responsibility of the branch secretary. The responsibility pressure is transmitted in place, strict from top to bottom, tight up, and effectively promote the rule of law and the rule of law. Party members and cadres should not only abide by Party discipline and Party rules, but also take the lead in learning, knowing and abiding by the law, do not favoritism, do not seek personal gain, strictly follow the rules and procedures in accordance with the law, and play a leading role as an advanced model.

3.4 System construction is the only way to legalize the Party building work

Colleges and universities should formulate their own institutional documents on the construction of ideology, organization and style in accordance with the Party constitution, and enhance the pertinence and guidance of various systems and guiding documents. It is necessary to improve the principal responsibility system under the leadership of the Party committee, the comprehensive and strict Party governance system, the ideological system, the Party committee center group learning system, the leadership team and the Party member team construction system, deepen the Party ‘s ideological construction, organizational construction, style construction, anti-corruption construction, further standardize the Party member management system and the Party member leading cadres to contact the non-Party intellectual work system, the Party ‘s internal relief assistance system, the “ three meetings and one lesson “ system, etc., take the Party ‘s political life seriously, integrate the system construction into all aspects of the Party ‘s construction, and form a complete legal pattern of Party building work. We must constantly improve the democratic decision-making system, refine the three major implementation rules, implement the principle of democratic centralism, adhere to decision-making according to law, democratic decision-making, scientific decision-making, ensure that the authority is legal, the entity is legal, and the procedure is legal. Expert demonstration, risk assessment, pre-session research, etc. are necessary procedures for major decisions. Actively promote the legal adviser system, strengthen the legal adviser consultation, and provide full protection for the decision-making within the Party in accordance with the law.
