

Insight into the Consciousness of the Chinese National Community through Ethnic Costume Crossdressing

Saliushuang Hu

School of Journalism and Media, Northwest Minzu University, Gansu Lanzhou, 730030, P.R. China

Abstract: Ethnic costumes, as an important part of traditional culture, have significant implications for the formation and inheritance of the Chinese national community consciousness. This paper studies the relationship between ethnic costumes and cultural identity, the historical evolution of ethnic costume cross dressing, and the insight into the Chinese national community consciousness through ethnic costume transformation, aiming to explore the impact of ethnic costume cross dressing on the Chinese national community consciousness and provide new ideas and inspirations for the inheritance and development of the Chinese national community consciousness.

Keywords: Ethnic costumes; Cross dressing; Chinese national community consciousness; Cultural identity

Fund Project: Insight into the Pluralistic Integration of the Chinese Nation through Ethnic Costume Crossdressing. Northwest Minzu University College Students' Innovation and Entrepreneurship Training Program (X202310742111)

Introduction

With the promotion of cultural diversity, the awareness of the Chinese national community has become an important value in Chinese society. As an important component of culture, ethnic clothing has become a way to express and convey the sense of Chinese national community through cross dressing.

1. Cross dressing of Chinese national costumes and its significance

Chinese costume cross dressing refers to the behavior of people wearing traditional Chinese costumes to play different roles or showcase their personal style in specific occasions or events. This type of cross dressing can include various cultural activities such as theatrical performances, dance performances, holiday celebrations, and wedding ceremonies.

1.1 Cultural expression and inheritance

Through the cross dressing of Chinese national clothing, people can show the unique charm and diversity of Chinese culture to the outside world. This expression helps to inherit and promote the value and aesthetics of traditional clothing, protect and disseminate the cultural heritage of the Chinese nation.

1.2 Role playing and artistic performance

Chinese costume cross dressing provides an opportunity for role playing and artistic performance. By wearing traditional clothing, people can play historical figures, mythological and legendary roles, or show their understanding and interpretation of changes in times and cultural transformations.

1.3 Identity and a sense of belonging

Cross dressing of Chinese ethnic clothing is also an expression of identity and a sense of belonging. Wearing traditional clothing allows people to demonstrate their identification with Chinese culture and develop emotional resonance with traditional culture, enhancing personal and ethnic connections.

1.4 Cultural exchange and international influence

Chinese costume cross dressing plays an important role in international communication. By participating in international events, exhibitions, and performances, people can showcase the unique clothing culture of the Chinese nation to the outside world, promoting mutual understanding and exchange between different cultures.

2. The Historical Evolution of Ethnic Costume Cross dressing

2.1 The origin and development process of ethnic costume cross dressing

Cross dressing of ethnic costumes is a traditional cultural activity of the Chinese nation, originating from ancient sacrificial ceremonies and opera performances. In the Song Dynasty, it became popular among the people to wear various ethnic costumes for cross dressing performances. During the Ming and Qing dynasties, folk artists and opera performers began to integrate ethnic costume cross dressing performances into their artistic performances. In modern times, with the progress of society and the development of culture, ethnic costume cross dressing has also been more widely inherited and developed.

2.2 The significance of ethnic costume cross dressing in different historical stages

In different historical stages, ethnic costume cross dressing has different meanings. In ancient times, ethnic costume cross dressing was seen as a form of ritual and performance, which could express people's respect and admiration for gods and ancestors. During the Ming and Qing dynasties, ethnic costume cross dressing was widely used in traditional Chinese opera performances, becoming a cultural and artistic form with entertainment and cultural inheritance functions. In modern times, ethnic costume cross dressing is more often passed down and promoted as a cultural heritage.

2.3 The Impact of Ethnic Costume Crossdressing on the Consciousness of the Chinese National Community

As a part of traditional Chinese culture, ethnic costume cross dressing has a significant impact on the formation and development of the Chinese nation's sense of community. Through ethnic costume cross dressing, people can gain a deeper understanding of the history and culture of the Chinese nation, thereby enhancing their sense of identity and belonging to the Chinese nation. In addition, ethnic costume cross dressing can also promote communication and integration between different ethnic groups, enhancing the cohesion and unity of the Chinese nation.

3. The Relationship between Chinese Costume Crossdressing and the Community Consciousness of the Chinese Nation

3.1 Cross dressing of ethnic costumes is of great significance in cultural identity

Through the cross dressing of Chinese national clothing, people express their recognition and respect for Chinese culture. Whether from different regions, ethnic groups, or social classes, dressing in traditional Chinese clothing shows resonance and identification with common cultural traditions.

3.2 The significance of ethnic costume cross dressing in cultural inheritance and inheritance

Chinese clothing is an important component of Chinese culture, passed down through cross dressing display. People wearing traditional clothing for cross dressing not only inherits traditional culture, but also inherits the history, values, and aesthetic values of the Chinese nation.

3.3 The significance of ethnic costume cross dressing in cultural exchange and integration

The cross dressing of Chinese ethnic costumes shows the exchange and integration of the Chinese nation in a multicultural context. People can choose to wear traditional clothing from other regions and ethnic minorities for cross dressing, demonstrating the inclusiveness and openness of the Chinese nation in cultural exchange.

3.4 The significance of ethnic costume cross dressing in people's unity and cohesion

Cross dressing of Chinese ethnic costumes helps to unite the strength of the Chinese nation. In a specific celebration or event, everyone dressed in traditional clothing in a similar way for cross dressing, enhancing their sense of community and belonging, and creating an atmosphere of unity and friendship.

3.5 The significance of ethnic costume cross dressing in cross generational transmission and education

Through the cross dressing of Chinese national clothing, the elderly can impart traditional cultural knowledge and values to the younger generation, which helps to strengthen intergenerational communication and understanding, and cultivate the younger generation's identification and pride in Chinese traditional culture.

4. Insight into the Consciousness of the Chinese National Community through Ethnic Costume Crossdressing

Ethnic costume cross dressing, as a traditional cultural expression with rich cultural connotations, has extremely high cultural value. On the one hand, ethnic costume cross dressing can inherit and promote the traditional culture of the Chinese nation, allowing more people to understand, identify with, and inherit the cultural spirit of the Chinese nation; On the other hand, ethnic costume cross dressing can also continuously promote the development and progress of Chinese national culture through innovation and integration. In this process, ethnic costume cross dressing is not only a form of cultural expression, but also a symbol of cultural identity, which can promote the formation and strengthening of the Chinese national community consciousness.

Firstly, ethnic costume cross dressing can promote cultural identity, allowing more people to understand and identify with the cultural characteristics and spiritual connotations of the Chinese nation, thereby enhancing the cohesion and centripetal force of the Chinese nation.

Secondly, ethnic costume cross dressing can promote the spirit of the Chinese nation, allowing more people to understand and inherit the moral concepts, values, and spiritual pursuits of the Chinese nation, thereby enhancing the cultural confidence and national pride of the Chinese nation.

Finally, ethnic costume cross dressing can also integrate diverse cultures, allowing cultural exchange and interaction between different ethnic groups and regions, thereby promoting the prosperity and development of Chinese national culture.

5. The Enlightenment of Ethnic Costume Crossdressing on the Consciousness of the Chinese National Community

As a form of traditional cultural expression with strong ethnic cultural characteristics, ethnic costume cross dressing can not only deepen people's understanding and understanding of traditional Chinese culture, but also promote the formation and development of a sense of community among the Chinese nation. Through cross dressing of ethnic costumes, people can gain a deeper understanding of different ethnic cultures and traditional customs in different regions, enhance their sense of identification and pride in the diverse culture of the Chinese nation, and form a common value and cultural identity, enhancing the cohesion and centripetal force of the Chinese nation. Therefore, ethnic costume cross dressing still has extremely important practical significance and profound historical significance in today's era.

Cross dressing of ethnic costumes can inspire us and deepen our understanding of the culture and history of the Chinese nation. By participating in ethnic clothing cross dressing activities, people's cultural identity and community awareness can be strengthened. Finally, we also need to notice that cross dressing of ethnic clothing may bring some challenges, such as misunderstandings and distortions of ethnic culture. Therefore, we need to approach ethnic clothing cross dressing in the correct way and attitude, making it a beneficial factor in promoting the awareness of the Chinese national community.

6. Strengthening the National Cultural Identity of College Students from the Perspective of Traditional Culture

A nation is a stable community formed by people in history with a common language, common region, common economic life, and common psychological qualities manifested in a common culture. Schools play an important role in conveying national culture and traditional culture. Therefore, contemporary universities should attach importance to and strengthen traditional cultural education, strengthen communication and integration among students from all ethnic groups, and thus enhance the sense of national cultural identity of college students.

References:

- [1] He Yanwen. Looking at the Pattern of Diversity and Integration of the Chinese Nation from the Perspective of Chinese Ethnic Clothing [J]. Guizhou Ethnic Studies, 1994 (1): 71-74
- [2] Wu Xiaoyu Reproduction and Imagination: Identity and Cultural Consciousness in Ethnic Minority Cross dressing Short Videos [J] Journal of Hanjiang Normal University, 2023 (6): 34-38
- [3] Guo Yuxin, Yang Yuqing. Form Imitation and Memory Inheritance in Ethnic Style Cross dressing Videos: Taking Zhu Tiexiong's National Style Cross dressing Videos and Ethnic Minority Cross dressing Videos as Examples [J]. Comparative Study on Cultural Innovation, 2023 (11): 115-119

About the author:

Saliushuang Hu, female, born in Wuhan, Hubei Province, is 2021 undergraduate students majoring in Radio and Television Directing at the School of Journalism and Communication, Northwest Minzu University.