

Exploration of the Practice of Cultural Education in College Dormitories under the Background of "Three Comprehensive Education"

Qiong Qiao

Shandong Vocational and Technical University of International Studies, Donggang District, Rizhao City, Shandong 276826

Abstract: In the current field of higher education, the concept of "three comprehensive education" emphasizes the all-round, whole-process and full-participation education model, aiming to cultivate students' comprehensive quality through all aspects and levels of education. As an important place for students' daily life, the cultural construction of college dormitories has a non-negligible impact on students' personal growth and value shaping. This paper analyzes the practical significance of cultural education in college dormitories under the background of "three comprehensive education", and focuses on its practical strategies for reference.

Keywords: "Three comprehensive education"; Dormitory culture; Education practice

Introduction:

In the context of the new era, the goal of higher education is not only to impart knowledge, but more importantly, to cultivate students' all-round qualities, so that they can become modern citizens with a sense of social responsibility, innovative spirit and practical ability. As a result, the concept of "three comprehensive education" came into being, emphasizing the comprehensiveness and in-depth nature of education, and requiring university workers to integrate educational elements into all aspects of teaching, management and service. As an important space for student life, dormitory is the main place for students to socialize, study and relax, and its cultural construction plays an important role in the formation of students' values, behavior and habits, and the improvement of teamwork ability.

1. The practical significance of college dormitory culture education under the background of "three comprehensive education"

The influence of the dormitory culture formed under the background of "three comprehensive education" on college students is imperceptible, and the dormitory culture has the effect of "spring breeze and rain, moisturizing things silently". A good dormitory culture can make people feel happy, full of fighting spirit and full of vitality, while a bad dormitory atmosphere can make people feel depressed, depressed and pessimistic. The construction of the moral character of college students depends on the construction of campus culture in colleges and universities, and only when the dormitory culture develops healthily and the dormitory atmosphere is good, can the students' study and life be carried out in an orderly manner, and the moral education work in the university can be better accepted by the students. On the other hand, if the atmosphere in the dormitory is not good, it will be difficult to carry out ideological and political work. A good dormitory culture can infect students' emotions and play a certain role in regulating students' behavior^[1].

The dormitory culture formed under the background of "three comprehensive education" can promote students to form a common ideal and goal, provide fair and objective evaluation standards for each student, release students' spiritual energy and innovation motivation, and is an invisible force in the dormitory, which can unify everyone's actions and guide students in the same direction. At the same time, if we want to promote the ideological and political education work of the university to truly play its due function, it is necessary to unite the strength of all dormitory members, pool their wisdom and efforts, and make unremitting efforts for a long time. Dormitory life is an important part of the learning career of college students, the value orientation and behavior habits of dormitory members have a close relationship with the dormitory culture, the dormitory culture can reintegrate and sort out the values of dormitory members, and a sound dormitory culture can lead students to grow, cultivate their positive thinking and behavior habits, so that students have the correct value orientation and moral judgment standards.

2. Practical strategies for cultural education in college dormitories under the background of “three comprehensive education”

2.1 Improve the hardware facilities of the dormitory and enhance the comfort level of the dormitory

The creation of dormitory culture in colleges and universities should be centered on “full education”, “full education” and “all-round education”. To increase the university’s investment in the hardware of student dormitories, it is necessary to carry out regular maintenance of the facilities of the old dormitories, and to add new dormitories in a timely manner according to the actual situation to meet the needs of students. At the same time, we will continue to improve the management level of dormitory administrators, improve the living environment of the dormitory, and deal with the problems reported by students in a timely manner to enhance student satisfaction. The dormitory support equipment should also be continuously improved to ensure that everyone has a desk and a sufficient storage space, and the water heater and air conditioner are uniformly configured to meet the needs of students and create a comfortable and convenient environment for their study and life^[2].

The logistics department should follow the principle of more humanization and refinement, redesign the power network of the dormitory, establish a special maintenance hotline, and set up a maintenance team, so that when receiving help, it can quickly deal with emergencies with a good sense of service and improve students’ recognition and sense of belonging to the school. In addition, in order to facilitate management, dormitories should be divided according to different colleges, and public self-study rooms, group learning activity rooms, psychological counseling rooms, counselor studios, etc. should be set up in each dormitory building to strengthen the functions of the dormitory, so that the educational function of the dormitory can be maximized and the learning, living and entertainment needs of students can be maximized. In short, by improving the hardware and auxiliary facilities of the dormitory, we can continue to meet the requirements of students for the living environment of the dormitory, so that they can live comfortably and learn at ease, which can promote the successful implementation of the school’s ideological and political work and promote the healthy development of college students.

2.2 Stimulate the vitality of the main body of education and strengthen overall management planning

Dormitory cultural education should cover all the main body of education, do a good job in the regulation and coordination of various factors, and actively establish an education mechanism with the participation and joint governance of multiple subjects. First of all, strengthen the unified leadership and overall planning of dormitory culture and education, so that all education management personnel can effectively participate in education, clarify the responsibilities and work boundaries of each position, and promote the subjective initiative of educating people to be fully developed. In terms of student counselors, they should not only pay attention to the mental health of students, but also care about the living needs of students, report to the relevant departments such as school logistics, and mobilize all forces to provide comprehensive services for students. The dormitory manager should not only provide good management and service for students, but also integrate humanized care into the life of college students. Second, we should advocate students’ self-management, self-education, and self-service, give full play to students’ vanguard and exemplary role, and actively guide teachers and students to participate in the construction of dormitory culture, so as to open up new positions for students’ ideological and political work. Third, strengthen the construction of the education team. During the winter and summer vacations, the dormitory staff can provide students with a variety of services such as drying bedding, cleaning, watering flowers and plants, raising goldfish, etc., and the subtle service and management play an important role in the growth of students and the cultivation of personal good habits. At the same time, colleges and universities should conduct regular professional quality training for dormitory management personnel, summarize and promote good practices in their work, and improve their overall quality and education level in an all-round way.

2.3 Strictly implement the management system and build a solid position for cultural education

In the management of dormitories in colleges and universities, the strict implementation of rules and regulations is an important part of ensuring the smooth progress of dormitory order and cultural construction. The strict implementation of dormitory rules and regulations can not only maintain the normal order of the dormitory, but also cultivate students’ discipline and sense of responsibility. In order to ensure the effective implementation of the rules and regulations, it is necessary to establish a complete set of supervision and inspection mechanisms, including regular inspections and irregular spot checks, to ensure that students and dormitory managers can follow the regulations, the results of supervision and inspection should be open and transparent, and the individual or collective who violates the regulations should be corrected and dealt with in a timely manner as a warning.

At the same time, advocacy and education are equally important. Through various channels, such as dormitory announcements, class meetings, network publicity, etc., strengthen the interpretation and publicity of dormitory rules and regulations, so that students can fully understand the meaning and purpose of the rules and regulations, so that students can not only realize the importance of abiding by the rules and regulations, but also consciously abide by them in daily life, develop good behavior habits, and then form a civilized and harmonious dormitory culture. Compliance with dormitory rules and regulations is also part of students' moral education, and students can develop the quality of respecting rules and abiding by laws and disciplines by abiding by school rules and disciplines. Students should be encouraged to participate in dormitory management and learn how to manage themselves, collaborate with others, and play an active role in the community.

In addition, dormitory management should pay attention to the responsibility to ensure that staff at each level can be clear about their responsibilities, and actively perform, promote the dormitory management to form an effective supervision network, and set a positive example among students, and further promote the healthy development of dormitory culture, so that the dormitory will become an important position for cultural education in colleges and universities, and provide a solid foundation for the all-round development of students.

2.4 Carry out cultural construction activities and promote the realization of political education

Ideological and political education is a long-term and systematic process, which requires education managers to constantly guide students in their daily work and enhance students' ideological consciousness through continuous efforts. As the old saying goes, "the wood of the hug is born in the end of the millimeter, and the nine-story platform is born from the soil", which shows the importance of accumulation and persistence, so in the construction of dormitory culture, we should gradually cultivate the core values of socialism through daily bit education. Among them, dormitory cultural activities are an important carrier of ideological and political education, the school can effectively integrate the mainstream culture into the daily life of students by holding a variety of cultural activities, help students learn and experience patriotism, collectivism and other values in practice, cultural publicity activities can not only enrich students' dormitory life, but also guide students to form a correct world view, outlook on life and values in a relaxed and happy atmosphere^[4].

Conclusion:

Under the guidance of the concept of "three comprehensive education", the practical exploration of cultural education in college dormitories is not only a systematic project, but also a long-term and arduous task. Colleges and universities should deepen the construction of dormitory culture, regard it as an important position of ideological and political education, constantly explore new modes and methods of educating people, and encourage students to actively participate in the construction of dormitory culture, and cultivate their sense of responsibility, collective honor and social responsibility through practical activities. At the same time, university administrators and ideological and political workers should also continuously improve their own quality, and guide students to learn self-management, self-service and self-education in the "small society" of dormitories with a more open mind and innovative thinking.

References:

- [1] Zhao Min, Liu Guoshuai. Research on the practice path of cultural education in college dormitory from the perspective of "three-comprehensive education"[J].Logistics Research in Colleges and Universities,2022,(09):48-50.
- [2] Zhao Wei, Zhang Shijie. Journal of Yunnan Agricultural University (Social Sciences),2022,16(03):155-160.