Abstract: With the continuous development and progress of society, the emergence of new culture and new ideas has changed the environment and social contradictions in China. Under the background of this era, we should improve the comprehensive quality of college student Party members, and improve their ability to cope with new challenges, so as to ensure that Party members can better contribute to national construction. In the process of educating college student Party members, paying attention to the pertinence, accuracy and effectiveness of education can not only enhance the cultivation of the Party spirit of students, but also consolidate the ruling position of the Party. Therefore, the teaching staff responsible for the education of Party members should gradually improve their ideological and political work level.

Under the background of the new era, great changes have taken place in people's life style and life concept, which also provides great convenience for counselors' Ideological and political work. The new era not only brings great changes to people's life, but also brings new problems and new challenges. Therefore, we should strengthen the education of Party members, so as to ensure that Party members can get better education. In the process of ideological and political work for college student Party members in the new era, we should first ensure the accuracy and effectiveness of education, and actively guide students to analyze the new situation at home and abroad, conduct in-depth analysis and exploration of problems, so as to ensure the effectiveness of education.

1. Problems in the education of college student Party members under the new situation

1.1 Education environment

At present, the education mechanism of Party members is the traditional mechanism, but the overall and coordinated education mechanism has not been established. Party members from different social groups, such as mass organizations and student unions, have different activities and homework arrangements, which leads to insufficient cooperation among Party members in the process of receiving education, and makes it difficult to improve the education quality of the whole Party members. In the process of education and management of Party members, we should pay attention to education and management at the same time, in order to ensure that college student Party members can get better education effect.

In the process of the management of Party members in universities, there may be problems such as mere formality, which requires the Party branch to have a more full and in-depth understanding and recognition of the education of Party members in combination with the background of the new situation, so as to ensure that the Party class can play a better education effect. Some Party branches do not pay attention to the special training, going through the field and dealing with the problems in the process of Party class education, which will lead to the difficulty in realizing the educational purpose of Party members.

1.2 The main body of education

In the process of education of college student Party members, there may be some problems, such as the teaching staff's lack of planning for the education content and the conflict with business working hours, which makes it difficult to guarantee the Party members' political theory learning time. It may also lead to the phenomenon that the system is not perfect, or the implementation of the system is not enough, directly causing the less attention to the Party lesson learning by student Party members.

In some Party branches, the education of Party members is regarded as a subsidiary work, which leads to a decline in the importance of Party branches to the education of Party members, and directly leads to the lack of in-depth ideological education. For this group of college students, they are in a very important stage of life, so the staffs need to actively guide. If we neglect the guidance and help for the work and life of college student Party members, it will lead to the decrease of the identity of college student Party members to the organization.

1.3 The object of education

Many young Party members are not serious enough in the process of learning the theoretical knowledge of the Party lesson, and they may choose to escape when facing problems, this causes students to be in a passive position in the learning process. Some college student Party members are negative in thinking and do not think of making progress, and they do not pay enough attention to the education of the Party, which directly leads to the difficulty in the implementation of self-criticism and self-examination.

For example, there are more and more new ideas of hedonism among college students. In the face of money and material, college student Party members may have ideological decline, or cannot stand the test, promoting the rise of negative thinking.

2. Improving the pertinence, accuracy and effectiveness of college student Party member education under the new situation

2.1 Innovating education content, construct progressive centralized education system, and giving full play to the subjectivity of Party members

At the present stage, the education system of Party members tends to be fragmented. This kind of education mode will lead to the difficulty of improving the overall thinking of college Party members. The teaching staff responsible for the education of college student Party members should respect the differences of each student, and provide them with more targeted education, so as to ensure that every student can get better improvement and progress. Education and management of Party members is an important work of grass-roots Party organizations, and it also plays a positive role in Party building. In the process of education under the situation, we should seriously consider the new environment and new problems and pay attention to practice, in order to ensure that the pertinence of education and management can be improved. In the process of education of college student Party members, it is necessary to guide students to realize that they are the main body of learning, to ensure that students can give full play to their role in learning. This requires that the teaching staff should innovate the concept of education, improve the content and form of education, and fully integrate the resources of education, in order to constantly expand the opportunities and platforms of practice, and ensure that the education and training of college student Party members can be more scientific and rigorous. In addition, we should adhere to the principle of multi nature education and service. For example, we can set up a study group of the Party constitution and train activists to ensure that the effect and quality of Party member education can be improved.

2.2 Realizing the diversification of education carriers for Party members and establish an effective education mode

In the process of educating Party members, we should fully realize the education of environment to people, and teachers should pay attention to the construction of educational environment, so as to ensure the effectiveness of education of college student Party members. Building a platform for Party members to carry out self-learning, Party members can see the effect of education by themselves, so as to improve the effectiveness of education of college student Party members. In the process of constructing the self-learning platform, we should focus on daily life, make full use of advanced science and technology, and at the same time, we should also pay attention to the educational role of practice to students, in order to ensure that students can get more comprehensive education. For example, in the process of education through the Party class group, we can first arrange the learning content and learning topic to the learning group, and arrange and explain it by the group. It can be explained on the Internet or in the form of a forum. In this way, we can let the members of the Party lesson learning group give full play to their main role, and let the group members get more full learning and understanding in the process of preparation.

In the context of the new era, people's daily life is increasingly inseparable from the Internet, so teachers can also educate Party members through micro class, online speech and other ways. In the process of Party member education, teachers should provide students with more educational materials. In the process of collecting materials, teachers can make full use of the educational resources in Shanghai on the Internet, so that students can get more abundant and advanced education. The use of network education is a very common means of Party member education in modern universities, and the network has become an important carrier of Party member education. However, if only relying on the network for Party member education, it will lead to the separation of education and reality. Therefore, the staff in charge of Party member education should give full play to the role of guide, strengthen the cultivation of self-discipline and self-consciousness of Party members, and fully ensure that the law of Party member education is consistent with the dissemination of new media, which constantly improve the connection between the Internet and reality education, so that every Party member can better access to education.

2.3 Thinking on the evaluation method of the accuracy and effectiveness of the education of college student Party members in the new era

The evaluation and assessment of Party members is an important work in the education system. The evaluation of Party members can fully mobilize the enthusiasm of Party members, but also help the teaching staff to constantly improve the way of education. There are some problems and defects in the current evaluation methods, so we should constantly improve the evaluation mechanism and assessment methods, so as to ensure that the evaluation link can really play an effective role. The evaluation of the effectiveness and accuracy of the education of college student Party members needs to be compared and analyzed according to the education objectives of Party members. If the mathematical methods are used to sort out and analyze, the evaluation results will be objectively quantified. When evaluating the effectiveness and accuracy of student Party members, we should avoid the use of mathematical methods, through observation, analysis, description and other comprehensive evaluation of Party members at that time, and pay attention to the observation and evaluation of Party members' consciousness and ideological and moral. In the evaluation of college student Party members, we should also pay attention to the analysis of individual characteristics, so as to avoid the evaluators with subjective color.

3. Conclusion

In the process of educating college student Party members, teachers should constantly improve their own education level and teaching quality, so as to ensure that students can obtain better education effect. First of all, we should innovate the content and form of education, strive to build a more centralized education system, and guide students to play their own role in theme learning. Secondly, we should actively try different education carriers to establish a more efficient and accurate education mode. Finally, we should constantly improve and modify the education evaluation mechanism, in order to ensure that college student Party members can obtain more targeted, accurate and effective education.
