In recent years, the ideological and political theory course has been highly valued by the state, and has played a vital role in safeguarding the national ideological security and realizing the fundamental task of moral education. From the convening of the National Conference on ideological and Political Work in 2016, the National Education Conference in 2018 and the National Symposium on ideological and Political Teachers on March 18, 2019, ideological and political courses have not been highly valued. Colleges and universities around the moral education mission, make full use of Internet technology, so that the ideological and political theory course ushered in an unprecedented good development situation. Looking at the essence through the phenomenon, we should realize that the ideological and political theory course is the key course of moral education, and we should deal with all kinds of contradictions calmly and give full play to the effectiveness of the ideological and political theory course. ideological and political theory course is the key course to implement moral education, which is to make students further strengthen their ideals and beliefs, enhance the four consciousness, strengthen the four self-confidence, achieve “two safeguards”, and train qualified socialist builders and reliable successors.

1. Deal with the relationship between the form of “pan-entertainment” and the content of “rationalization”

The wide use of the Internet today, college ideological and political course teachers bold innovation, in order to improve the attractiveness of ideological and political course, homeopathy, make full use of Internet technology to assist teaching, it can be said to make every effort to achieve a more satisfactory teaching effect. But there are also some teachers in order to cater to students’ preferences, attract students’ eyeballs, and even appear the tendency of pan-entertainment, putting the cart before the horse, ignoring the teaching materials, ignoring the important and difficult points of teaching, neglecting the characteristics of the unity of political and academic rationality of ideological and political theory courses, lively in class, unintelligible after class. Esoteric theory should be popular, popular is not vulgar and vulgar can’t be scientific theory shallow.

Each discipline has its own academic rationality, so does the ideological and political discipline. Thorough learning rationality is the important key to win students in ideological and political course and the premise of students' true faith. Ideological and political course responds to students with thorough theory and inspires students with strong theory. We should not only pay attention to the internal academic rationality of the subject, but also pay attention to the skills of imparting knowledge and methods, and understand the current situation and needs of students, so as to find a strong combination point. At the same time, we should not only pay attention to the subject content, but also pay attention to the imparting form, not only have a complete skeleton, but also have fresh and blood, really deal with the relationship between the "pan-entertainment" form and the "academic" content, so as to enhance the effect of ideological and political theory courses.

2. Deal with the relationship between integrity and innovation

Ideological and political theory courses should keep pace with the times, respond to the problems of the times, sing the main theme of the times, promote positive energy, insight into the real society from a keen perspective, and make good use of theory to analyze and explain social hot spots and difficulties, which requires dealing with the relationship between integrity and innovation. General Secretary Xi once said, "We have formed the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics through upholding integrity and innovation. By upholding integrity, we cannot deviate from Marxism and socialism, but we should move forward and keep pace with the times, otherwise we will be rigid, obsolete and outdated."

Old ancestors can't be lost, but also to speak newspeak. Integrity and innovation are embodied not only in the teaching content, but also in the teaching methods and concepts. Ideological and political theory courses are based on Marxist theory, rooted in the excellent traditional Chinese culture, inherited from the theoretical achievements created by the great practice of China's revolution, construction and reform, and immersed in the practice of socialist culture with Chinese characteristics. We should not only fully inherit and carry forward the fine tradition of ideological and political courses, pay attention to the combination of theory and practice, but also emancipate the mind, seek truth from facts, keep pace with the times and achieve innovation, but also combine with the strength of schools, teachers' ability and students' receptivity, not to be ambitious, not to blow away like a gust of wind, like sunshine and salt, to integrate into all aspects.

Keep the right content and create a new form. It is the premise that is fundamental. To promote the "integrity" of ideological and political courses, it is essential to adhere to the guiding position of Marxism in the ideological field. Textbooks are an important carrier to carry out the fundamental task of cultivating people by virtue. The teaching content of ideological and political course mainly revolves around Marxist theory and its innovative achievements. The content should respond to and take care of the social reality, integrate the "Four Histories" education into the teaching content of ideological and political courses, especially the latest policies and theories of the party should be integrated into the teaching content in time, rather than just stay in the teaching materials. In order to achieve innovation on the basis of upholding the right, we should focus on the innovation in the relationship between teaching plans and textbooks, the design of teaching forms and the interpretation of important and difficult problems, so as to enhance students' sense of acquisition.

3. Deal with the relationship between students' needs and teachers' professors

We should not only know the demands and ideological confusion of students in the new era, but also understand the reasonable tension between theoretical demands and practical needs, so as to realize the access between them. Problem orientation not only embodies the distinct theoretical character of Marxism, but also the essential requirement of good ideological and political course. Ideological and political course adheres to problem orientation, conforms to realistic concern, looks at the objective world with keen insight, responds to the problems of the times with a high degree of generalization, and truly solves students' ideological confusion. Only on the premise of problem-oriented, can we better deal with the relationship between students' needs and teachers' teaching. In the new era, young people have ideas, distinct personality, curiosity and curiosity for new things. In addition, socialism with Chinese characteristics has entered a new era, and various social trends of thought have clashed one after another, making colleges and universities the frontier of ideological struggle. Only by facing the real problems directly and constantly using Marxist theory to improve the ability to solve them in the comparison between theory and reality, can we establish a correct world outlook and scientific methodology, and cultivate students' ability to think and solve problems independently.

If teachers lack “problem consciousness”, do not combine social reality well, and only stay on the single inculcation and teaching on the surface of knowledge, it will be difficult to realize the transformation from textbook system to teaching system, and students’ belief system of true learning, true understanding, true faith and true use will be impossible to talk about. Teachers should combine the current international public opinion and social hot spots, take the initiative to set topics, and respond to students’ ideological confusion, such as: Why do college students learn ideological and political courses? Why is the separation of powers not in line with China’s national conditions? How to view the problem of corruption? Is it the party or the law? To solve these problems, we must take the initiative to use the basic standpoint and viewpoint of Marxist theory to solve them, rather than take a detour or cover them. At the same time, it stimulates students to put forward and discover the internal driving force of problems, exercises students’ theoretical thinking ability to solve problems, and solves problems more effectively than air-to-air teaching.

4. Deal with the relationship between ideological and political course and other courses

The stereotype of the ideological and political theory course has gradually reversed. The history of the marginalization and labeling of Marxism has been turned over. Especially in recent years, curriculum ideological and political education is carried out in full swing in colleges and universities, which meets the requirements of Lide Shuren throughout the whole process of education and teaching. Curriculum ideological and political education is not the digestion of each course, but is based on each course, fully explore the ideological and political education elements of each course, better realize the whole staff, the whole process and all-round education. Correct understanding of the status and role of ideological and political courses, combined with the development of school conditions, to form a new pattern of ideological and political courses with excellent products, distinctive doors and courses focusing on educating people.

5. Conclusion

Ideological and political theory course has received unprecedented attention, which is inseparable from the strong and powerful leadership of the Communist Party of China. Socialism with Chinese characteristics has entered a new era, the glorious mission of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation needs to be shouldered by the new era, we should look at the current situation objectively and rationally, correctly handle some problems that may arise behind the hot ideological and political theory course, serve to safeguard the national ideological security, and train more qualified socialist builders and reliable successors.
