1. Red gene and cultural confidence

Red gene is the inheritance of a revolutionary spiritual force, which inherits an infinite force that is not afraid of difficulties, condenses hope and leads the future. Just as the meaning of gene in biogenetics, inheritance is both a process and a result. From 1921 to now, a century of time has proved to us that red gene has injected a steady stream of endogenous power into our national culture, It has not only become an important spiritual core of Chinese middle-class people, but also a time-space link to maintain the ancient and modern excellent culture of the Chinese nation. Just like the light in our bones, it not only allows us to see clearly the history and past of our nation, but also becomes the pilot of the future development of our national culture. If we say that ideals and beliefs are the calcium of the spirit of the Chinese Communists and the spirit of the Chinese nation, Then the red gene is the calcium in our ideals and beliefs. Because of the red gene, ideals and beliefs can become a goal with great attraction, great moral appeal and great value cohesion.

Cultural self-confidence is a nation, a country and a political party's full affirmation and positive practice of their own culture, and their firm confidence in the vitality of their culture. If we say that the excellent traditional culture of the Chinese nation has given us the cultural confidence to face the world and seek common ground while reserving differences, then the red gene has given us the cultural backbone to advance bravely and not afraid of difficulties, which not only shows the world the national backbone behind our deep cultural soft power, but also gives the cultural confidence of the Chinese culture.

Red gene is not only the activating force of the Chinese national culture that has been sleeping for a hundred years, but also an important guarantee of the cultural confidence of the Chinese nation. Red gene is not only the inheritance and continuation of the Chinese revolutionary spirit, but also the baptism and reconstruction of the Chinese nation's "practical and rational" cultural psychology in the course of the hundred year revolution. Under the reshaping of the red gene, the national culture of the Chinese nation has gradually transcended the parochialism of collective production and small-scale peasant economy in the past, transcended the vague ideals of ancient scholar bureaucrats with feudal brand of "self-cultivation", "family harmony" and "peace in the world", and formed a new national culture rooted in the people, transcending the times and lasting for the times. As the core element of the birth of the new Chinese culture, red gene is not only an important source of Chinese cultural self-confidence, but also an important guarantee of Chinese cultural self-confidence.

2. The improvement of the frustration threshold of national culture by the red base -- the fixed star of national cultural psychology

Threshold is also called critical value, which originally refers to the lowest or highest value of an effect. National culture frustration threshold refers to the ability of a nation's culture to ensure its own stability and prosperity and development under the conditions of external slander, invasion and digestion. Since 1840, China has been forced to open its door. Because of the weak national strength, our national culture has been in the process of being digested, eroded and destroyed by Western civilization The vilified status has also led to the extreme inferiority complex and self doubt of Chinese people in national culture. This phenomenon gradually improved after the founding of the Communist Party of China in 1921. One important reason is that in the continuous red blood of the Communist Party of China, not only the communist ideal and Marxist belief flow, but also the spiritual gene of the Chinese nation for thousands of years of self-improvement and the condensation of Eastern beliefs into majestic power, When Marxism meets the cultural gene of national spirit, the red gene is born.

The fearless revolutionary spirit and the spirit of struggle that the red culture full of red genes showed in the new democratic period not only have a firm belief in Marxism revolution, but also contain the eternal and indomitable national temperament of the Chinese nation. In the journey of building a strong socialist country with characteristics in an all-round way, it shows not only the lofty communist ideal, but also the national aura of cooperating with all countries and frightening strong beams.

Since its emergence, red culture has been accompanying our nation through the most difficult years, through the most difficult journey, looking into the past, even though a hundred years have passed, the bodies of our ancestors and the culture they handed down still make us feel more cordial and lifelike. The process of the Chinese nation standing up, becoming rich and strong is also the process of our red culture sprouting and taking root with the people. When the people are prosperous, the culture is prosperous, and when the people are strong, the culture is strong. It is precisely because the red culture is "from the people to the people" from its birth, so it has become a bonus item with the highest threshold of the Chinese nation's cultural psychology.

3. Red gene leads the direction of Chinese National Cultural Construction -- the beacon of national cultural development

Red culture is an advanced culture created by the Communist Party of China, advanced intellectuals and the people. It is a national culture that covers the characteristics of the Chinese nation and historical heritage, and it is also a continuous "gene culture". The so-called "gene culture" is a culture that has been passed down from generation to generation with a gene like bond. No matter how the times change, this bond will never change as if it were embedded in the national memory, It is like a string arrow pointing to the future from the beginning of inheritance, shooting to the East and through the clouds, pointing out the development direction of Chinese culture,

The red gene is the arrow of this arrow. The communist ideal from the perspective of national characteristics must condense the memory of generations and the orientation of all times of the Chinese nation. From Jinggangshan to Yan'an to Xibaipo, there is no exception because this "red gene" has created miracles one after another, from the war to resist US aggression and aid Korea, to rescue and disaster relief, and then to the anti epidemic in 2020, It is not because we have overcome one difficulty after another by relying on this "red gene". Because of the red gene in our bones, we are timely aware of the "four dangers", effectively resolve the "four tests", and truly turn the long-standing grand blueprint into China's development speed that surprises the world. The Chinese nation, who is well versed in this, is like a beacon in its heart, breaking waves on the vast sea of world civilization.

4. Epilogue

Our red gene is a deep and extremely powerful spiritual force engraved in our bones. It is not only the fixed star of our national cultural psychology, but also the pilot beacon that guides our national culture to face the world and develop healthily. Throughout the century, the culture of the Chinese nation has been deeply rooted because of "coming to the people from the people" and flourished because of the cultivation of red genes. Our red gene and red culture have been escorting us in the journey of building a modern and powerful socialist country of the Chinese nation.
