

The Enlightenment of Sinicization of Marxism to China's Social and Economic Development

Tao Zhou

Chongqing Technology and Business University, Chongqing 401520, China.

Abstract: Promoting the sinicization of Marxism is the primary experience for the party to lead the people to achieve the success of revolution, construction and reform, and is the theoretical guarantee to promote the rapid development of China's society and economy. Party history in one hundred through the great leap of sinicization of marxism and development in one hundred, review and review the historical process of marxism, is beneficial to consolidate the centralized and unified leadership of economic work, accurately grasp the principal contradiction and stage characteristics of the current social development, fully understand the current development of economic quality goals, thus opening up a new realm of sinicization of marxism.

Keywords: Sinicization of Marxism; a Hundred Years of Party History; Economic Development; Experience and Enlightenment

Introduction

Since the founding of new China, Marxism, as an important guiding theory of reform, innovation and development, has not only brought positive effects to the further enrichment and development of MAO Zedong Thought, but also provided scientific guidance for the construction and implementation of the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics. From this, we can understand that, for the Sinicization of Marxism, whether the key to achieve the ideal results, is still whether to achieve the organic integration of the universal truth of Marxism and China's actual national conditions. Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, the Sinicization of Marxism has achieved three leaps forward. In these three leaps, the people's material living standards have been greatly improved, and China's social and economic development has also achieved unprecedented improvement. The traditional economic development model of one-sided pursuit of GDP growth rate is out of date, and it has entered a stage of high-quality economic development that pays more attention to the quality of development, implementing the new development concept and building a new pattern of development.

1. The new course of the development of the Sinicization of Marxism

Turning Marxism into China has provided a solid and reliable theoretical foundation for China's economic development, provided a reliable ideological cornerstone for people's unremitting efforts and progress, given China's economic development a broader and more novel development prospects, and opened up a socialist path with Chinese characteristics.

1.1 Revelations of the sinicization of Marxism since the founding of New

China

Over the past hundred years, in the continuous implementation of socialist construction and reform practice, the Party's theories have been continuously enriched and expanded, providing solid ideological and theoretical support for social and economic development. The great achievements made by socialism with Chinese characteristics so far cannot be separated from the persistence and struggle of several generations of Chinese leaders and the Chinese people, which provides a strong ideological and theoretical foundation for all the Chinese people today. In addition, its various theoretical development achievements have also proved through a series of practices that they are the experience summary of China's revolution and construction, as well as the basic theoretical principles, and the concentrated embodiment of the wisdom of all its Communists, which can inject new vitality and vitality into Marxism.

Second, a series of arduous explorations have not only laid a solid foundation for the formation of the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics, but also provided a strong ideological and theoretical guarantee for China's social and economic development, but also provided strong guidance for the development of contemporary China. Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, especially against the background of reform and opening up, the CPC is also actively leading the people in making rapid progress on the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics. This shows that, in terms of China's current national conditions, only by unswervingly taking the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics can we expand a more ideal development prospects for China and truly revitalize China. At the same time, only in this context, the goal of the comprehensive construction of a well-off society, and the development goal of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation can be effectively implemented.

Finally, the great achievements of adapting marxism can not only bring hope for China, but also to provide important power for the worldwide socialist construction cause, more and more people in the world from the great miracle of China once again know the marxism and socialism, the world people's enthusiasm for understanding marxism more intense, is conducive to promote the development of the international communist movement. By attaching importance to and strengthening the scientific guidance of Marxist theory, it can not only lay a solid foundation for the success of its movement, but also occupy a position in the global political life that cannot be ignored. Although we have encountered some setbacks in the development, the superiority of the socialist system with Chinese characteristics has been highlighted to the greatest through the continuous development and innovation of several generations of Chinese leaders. Both the Chinese people and the CPC have undergone great changes. Especially after the founding of new China, through the successful practice of Marxism, has perfectly hit back at the western world in the past for socialism and Marxism absurd judgment. As Comrade Deng Xiaoping once stressed, more and more followers will follow Marxism and socialism in the future.

2. Adhere to the emancipation of the mind and seeking truth from facts, and promote the development of Marxism

The core thought of MAO Zedong Thought and the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics is to seek truth from facts and connect Marxist theory with China's specific national conditions. Reviewing the course of the Chinese revolution, whenever we view Marxism as "dogmatism and humanism", the cause of the Party and the Chinese nation are in danger; otherwise, they will win. Since the founding of new China, China has also experienced a series of difficulties and challenges, but it has provided important practical experience for the process of Sinicization of Marxism. These lessons of blood and tears always tell us that we must unswervingly adhere to the thought, organization and action line of the Chinese Communist Party, that is, to adhere to everything from reality, emancipate the mind, seek truth from facts. This is the fundamental line to lead the great cause of our social revolution and construction. The way of thinking of developing social economy cannot be limited by the rules and regulations in books. In the relevant research of the basic principles of Marxism, it can be found that only by taking the original basic principles as the basis, enriching and developing the new theories in the new practice, and avoiding treating Marxism with dogmatism and humanism, can the development of Marxism be promoted.

3. Adhere to the combination of theory and practice, and constantly innovate the path of adapting Marxism to China

Although Marxist theory is a scientific theoretical system, there is a big gap between its establishment and China's actual national conditions. Even if it has a universal guiding significance for the development of socialism, it also needs to establish and develop its own theory on the basis of China's specific national conditions. Therefore, in order to make marxism in the Chinese earth glow with real vitality, it is necessary to marxism theory associated with China's social practice, the combination of theory and practice is a two-way combination, that is to say, not only should have the theoretical support and guidance, the development of practice and innovation is essential. Marxism is a thought and theory with vitality, which radiates with different colors with the development of The Times. With the continuous advancement of history, China's modernization drive and social and economic development constantly update the construction needs, which requires a closer interaction between theory and practice to pave the way for China's modernization drive.

The application and development of marxism in China cannot leave the process of Sinicization, in the process of sinicization, the collective leadership of the communist party of China constantly seeks to combine the basic theory of marxism and China's social practice, let marxism in the earth in China, bring the social economic development of China more powerful ideological support. Only when Marxism is combined with China's social national conditions, can the guiding role of Marxism be fully played. We can't use the invariable theory to guide the complex concrete practice, should pay more attention to the development and change of The Times, under different time conditions of developing marxism, the particularity of sinicization of marxism, according to the specific national conditions of different historical stages combined with marxism, make marxism localization, nationalization, with Chinese characteristics. At the same time, the two-way interaction of the Sinicization of Marxism determines that while Marxism guides China's practice, and the summary of China's specific practical experience also has a feedback significance to the development of Marxism, thus promoting the mutual progress of the two sides.

4. Uphold to the leadership of the CPC and firmly follow the path of socialism with Chinese characteristics

Since its founding, the Communist Party of China has always taken promoting the Sinicization of Marxism as the focus of the Party's work, and it is the creator and promoter of Marxist China. The communist party of China adhere to promote the sinicization of marxism to benefit the people, the party's policies are formulated around the interests of the people, the party in the leadership of the Chinese revolution and modernization construction unswervingly, so, we must adhere to the leadership of the communist party of China, follow the direction of the party, together with the communist party of China to realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation constantly struggle, constantly create.

The Sinicization of Marxism is developed in the process of constantly promoting China's modernization drive. Therefore, China's system and system constantly innovate, and the continuous reform and innovation play a very important role in promoting the Sinicization of Marxism. Therefore, at the present stage, China needs to reform and innovate the old system and system, improve the institutional system that matches the productive forces, constantly liberate and develop the productive forces, and provide vitality for the development of Marxism.

To reform and innovate, first of all, we should first have a new understanding and thinking of the existing system and system, regasp the essence of the problem, and then carry out new research and analysis, and finally work out an appropriate plan to implement it. This process needs the theoretical guidance of Marxism, and it is the innovative application of Marxism. Reform and innovation require us to seize the realities of China's current practice to solve these problems. This is a process of reform and innovation in China's concrete practice, and also a process of further exploring and developing Marxism and constantly enriching its content. The process of sinicization of Marxism is a process of continuous innovation and development in practice. Therefore, the innovation of China's concrete practice is also the development of sinicization of Marxism.

Conclusion

To sum up, in the process of in-depth understanding and continuous practice of socialism, the Sinicization of Marxism has also experienced both a brilliant and tortuous development process. In this context, through the thinking and summary of the experience and lessons of the Sinicization of Marxism, the unremitting further innovation and development of Marxism, constantly innovate in thought and theory, and constantly develop and create in practice. In order to achieve more ideal results in social and economic development and provide strong support for future reform and exploration, we should make in-depth exploration of the process and enlightenment of Sinicization Marxism from different perspectives, so as to seek new impetus for China's social and economic development.

References

[1] Yang Y, Lingnan Academic Journal. 2022,(02),The logical interpretation of the Marxist people's nature.

[2] Guo TZ, The Economic Research Guide. 2022, (07), Four dimensions of the evolution of Marx's ecological and economic thought.