Abstract: “Cultural identity”, it not only represents the acceptance and understanding of their own culture, but also a deep connection with the culture of emotion and self-identity. In the tide of globalization, we are faced with various cultural shocks and integration, how to maintain our uniqueness in the change, how to cast a strong sense of identity of the Chinese nation community, has become an important issue in front of us. In this paper, we will discuss how to strengthen the cultural identity of the Chinese nation, and how to build a close-knit Chinese national community, in order to promote our cultural identity and community consciousness to provide some inspiration and ideas.

Keywords: Cultural identity; Chinese nation community consciousness; Ponder

In the context of globalization, people’s cultural identity and sense of identity are gradually influenced by diversity and cross-cultural communication. For the Chinese nation, it is particularly important to enhance cultural identity and cast a strong sense of community. As a country with a long history and rich multi-culture, China is not only facing the inheritance and development of traditional culture, but also needs to cope with the multi-cultural impact brought by the era of globalization. In this context, we need to think about how to strengthen the identity of the Chinese national culture and how to build a close united Chinese national community. By deeply exploring the uniqueness, historical tradition and cultural values of the Chinese nation, we can provide new ideas and directions for forging the sense of community of the Chinese nation. Only by enhancing cultural identity and building a sense of community can the Chinese nation better meet challenges and achieve the great goal of cultural confidence and national rejuvenation.

First, the connotation of enhancing cultural identity and casting a strong sense of community of the Chinese nation

Cultural identity refers to people’s recognition, approval and sense of belonging to a certain culture, which is a kind of psychological identification and emotional attachment. He stressed the importance of the concept of community, and cast the Chinese nation’s sense of community as the main line, and put the cause of national unity and progress in a fundamental position^[1]. Chinese culture is a valuable asset created, shared and inherited by all ethnic groups. It is a bond that binds all ethnic groups together by blood and hearts, and a driving force for unity, struggle and continuous progress. To enhance cultural identity, we must adhere to Marxism as the guide, core socialist values as the guidance, and reform and innovation as the driving force. This means that we should carry out creative transformation and innovative development on the basis of inheriting traditional culture. By combining traditional culture with modern society, we constantly explore its application and value in contemporary society, so as to make it full of new vitality and vitality. At the same time, enhancing cultural identity also requires promoting the exchange and integration of fine traditional cultures and modern civilizations of all ethnic groups. Cultural exchanges among different ethnic groups are an important source of the rich and diverse Chinese culture and an important bond for building the Chinese nation community. By promoting cultural exchanges and integration among different ethnic groups, we can realize mutual learning and common development of different cultures and form a richer and more diversified Chinese culture. Enhancing cultural identity also requires promoting Chinese culture to the world and bringing people of all ethnic groups closer together in spirit. Chinese culture, with its unique charm and wisdom, is not only the pride of the Chinese nation, but also the common wealth of all mankind. By actively spreading Chinese culture and promoting its influence and recognition in the international arena, we can promote mutual understanding and friendship among peoples and contribute to the building of a community with a shared future for mankind. Building a strong sense of community is an important ideological basis for promoting national unity and ethnic unity. To achieve this goal, we need to adhere to and improve the Party's principles and strategies, adhere to the overriding principle of stability and the people-centered development philosophy, wage a people's war against separatism, fight terrorism and maintain stability, protect the legitimate rights and interests of the people of all ethnic groups, and promote exchanges and exchanges among all ethnic groups. To form a community of shared future for all the Chinese people, regardless of ethnic group, region, belief, political party, social class or occupation.

Second, strengthen the construction and development path of cultural identity and cast a strong sense of community of the Chinese nation

1. Promoting fine traditional Chinese culture and fostering national confidence and pride

The fine traditional Chinese culture is a solid foundation for building the Chinese nation's sense of community, and is the spiritual wealth and wisdom shared by all ethnic groups. It is necessary to strengthen research, education and publicity of fine traditional Chinese culture, explore its connotation and value, carry forward its spirit and character, and make it full of new vitality and vitality in the new era. We should respect and protect the fine traditional cultures of all ethnic groups, carry forward the fine traditional cultures of all ethnic groups, promote cultural exchanges and mutual learning among them, and enhance their recognition of Chinese culture. While carrying forward the fine traditional Chinese culture and inheriting the spiritual blood of the Chinese nation, it is necessary to stimulate the cultural confidence and national pride of the Chinese people ^[2].

2. Promote revolutionary culture and advanced socialist culture, and promote innovative development of national culture

Promoting revolutionary culture is an important source of cultural identity. The Chinese nation has gone through arduous revolutionary struggles and formed a rich and great revolutionary cultural tradition. By promoting revolutionary culture, we can deepen our understanding of the history of the Chinese nation, enhance national pride and self-confidence, and inspire people to work hard for the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Therefore, we must deeply study and inherit and carry forward the lofty ideals and beliefs of revolutionary martyrs, the common responsibility for the mission, and the tenacious spirit of struggle, and stimulate the cultural creativity of the whole nation. Advanced socialist culture is the spiritual guidance that builds the Chinese nation's sense of community, and it is a modern cultural construction centered on the people and centered on core socialist values. Cultural innovation and cultural exchanges are the driving force for cultural development and prosperity. We should adhere to the people-oriented approach in cultural creation, create more excellent works that reflect the spirit of The Times and are ideological, artistic and popular, and enhance cultural soft power and influence. On the basis of respecting the fine culture and characteristics of all ethnic groups, we should integrate the essence of core socialist values into the daily life and practice of the people of all ethnic groups, promote the innovation and development of ethnic culture, draw on the fine achievements of human civilization, and create fine cultural products with the characteristics of The Times and ethnic styles.

3. Strengthen the rule of law and moral education, and create a good social atmosphere, public order and good customs

The rule of law is the cornerstone of social order and fairness and justice, while moral education is the key to promoting the civilization of the whole society. Through the organic combination of rule of law construction and moral education, we can cultivate citizens' legal consciousness and social responsibility, thus promoting the enhancement of the Chinese nation's sense of community. We must combine the rule of law with the rule of virtue, strengthen the rule of law and moral education, and foster a good social atmosphere, public order and good customs. In the process of implementing rule of law construction and moral education, we need to pay attention to comprehensive promotion and multi-party cooperation. Government departments should strengthen the formulation and implementation of laws and regulations, strengthen the publicity and popularization of the concept of rule of law, and provide citizens with a fair and just environment for the rule of law. The education department should bring moral education into the core content of the education system and pay attention to cultivating students' moral sentiment and social responsibility. Families and society should also work together to create a social atmosphere that respects law and morality, advocate public order and good customs, and make the rule of law and morality a conscious norm for everyone's behavior ^[3].

4. Promote the integration of all ethnic groups and build equal and harmonious ethnic relations

To promote the exchanges and integration of all ethnic groups, and to build a harmonious ethnic relationship of equality, unity, mutual assistance and harmony is an important task to enhance cultural identity and forge a strong sense of community of the Chinese nation. This requires us to uphold the principles of equality, solidarity, mutual assistance and harmony, promote exchanges and cooperation among all ethnic groups, and build a multi-ethnic relationship featuring coexistence and harmonious development. We will uphold the system of regional ethnic autonomy, protect the legitimate rights and interests of all ethnic groups, promote exchanges and integration among all ethnic groups, and build ethnic relations featuring equality, solidarity, mutual assistance and harmony. We should respect and protect the unique cultural traditions and customs of all ethnic groups, promote mutual learning and reference among ethnic groups, and achieve common cultural development and common prosperity.

Concluding remarks:

Guided by the core socialist values, we will continue to promote the building of the Chinese nation community and strive for the prosperity and development of the Chinese nation.
