

Student Role Models, Leading the Way Forward “- A Study on the Effect of” “1+X ”Student Party Member Peer Guidance and Education

Yan Sun, Jieying Zhang

Beijing City University, Beijing 100083

Abstract: In universities, the student party member group is an advanced team with high political awareness and strong vanguard and exemplary role. It is a backbone force of young college students in the new era who have both moral integrity and talent, and a good style of work. It has a widespread influence among the student group. This article takes the student party members of the Information Science Department of Beijing City University as an example to conduct a series of “1+X” peer tutoring party member role models and peer tutoring. A student party branch is used to study the effects and impacts on multiple peer tutoring groups.

Keywords: Student party member; Peer counseling; Effectiveness; New student pilot

College student party members are the vanguard to carry forward the national spirit and the spirit of the times, and the main force to efficiently spread positive energy. On this basis, the party organization should pay full attention to the play of the progressiveness role of student party members, and comprehensively educate and guide student party members to correctly handle the relationship between their own development and serving others^[1]. Through the practical actions and experience of student party members themselves, guiding and influencing other students around them, and through long-term exposure and spiritual rendering, they often approach students' lives more closely than slogans or theoretical education, and have a more infectious and resonant feeling. In this process, by exerting the subjective and dynamic role of student party members, it can not only continuously strengthen their party spirit cultivation, but also enhance their sense of responsibility and mission, promote them to become more and more responsible, and effectively improve the overall level of student party members, elevate the ideological level and practical education of the student team.

1. Practical content of peer counseling for student party members

1.1 Party members entering the new year will receive introductory party classes and lectures

For first-year students, they will inevitably face various problems upon entering school, including learning, life, and interpersonal communication. The Party branch should consider the role of student party members as pioneers and models, as well as how to provide campus adaptability education for new students. Student Party members are educatees and advanced members of the college student community. They use their exemplary words and deeds to make the surrounding students, especially freshmen, fully feel the glory and progressiveness of the Party, and then establish lofty communist ideals for themselves and firm beliefs^[2].

Excellent party members from various majors are introduced to the class, giving lectures to new students in terms of their majors, daily life, and joining the Party and Youth League. At the same time, they establish connections with the class's Youth League branch, and the Party building leads the Youth League building to promote class building, making up for the lack of party members in the first year of college. By developing a project implementation plan in the early stage, collecting questionnaires, and assessing the political outlook of students, we completed two party member class introduction activities. Collect the issues that students are most concerned about and unclear about during the promotional activities, and provide feedback to the branch. The party branch will then proceed with the next step of work based on the needs and problems of students.

1.2 Student Party Member Scholarship Presentation

Compared to daily education, peer education for college students has its unique characteristics. It can highlight the exemplary role of excellent students and effectively play the leading role of role models. It is an educational model that can fully demonstrate the self-management and self-education of college students. Student Party members^[3].

During the school period, the first thing to do is to be able to complete the best and most outstanding job - learning. The Fifth Party Branch of Shunyi School Management conducted an "Party Member Role Model Talk" activity to interview the recipients of national scholarships and special scholarships. The activity involves student Party members sharing their actual experiences, award-winning experiences, and subjective feelings with all students in the Information Science Department, inspiring and encouraging everyone to strive for excellence as young people. From the perspective of awarding students, we aim to show them outstanding party members and their diverse qualities, showcasing the excellent style of comprehensive and positive development of student party members to all students, and fostering a mindset of learning from them.

1.3 Interviews with Student Party Members volunteers

Entering the 21st century, college student volunteers are known as "international volunteers" by the people of the world. Volunteer activities are also non-profit public welfare undertakings, but now volunteer activities are somewhat impure and have poor purposive and utilitarian purposes. At the same time, due to inadequate publicity work, many college students, especially freshmen, still have a weak or even biased understanding of volunteer service. Student party members should actively participate in social practice, enter society, face internationalization and modernity, experience the current situation and development of the country firsthand, and hone, grow, and reflect in practice.

1.4 Employment Sharing of Excellent Senior Student Party Members

A study has found that college student party members have obvious employment advantages, but there are still shortcomings in employment concepts and other aspects. The student party branch should play a more active and effective role in helping the majority of students improve their employability, create employment and entrepreneurship platforms, and other aspects. The party branch should guide student party members to leverage their strengths and avoid weaknesses in employment, improve themselves, and break through themselves. At the same time, they should actively play an exemplary and exemplary role in setting examples for lower grade students, such as honest employment, improving academic performance, and creating a good learning atmosphere. Student party members should also play a leading role in establishing a reasonable employment concept, Make it a backbone force to promote and promote the overall employment of college students. Many students lack a clear understanding and understanding of employment, resulting in missing out on many good employment opportunities and platforms. A senior student party member provides advice on basic information, employment choices, and preparation for the postgraduate entrance examination, public service, and going abroad. For students who are about to go abroad, student party members will provide advice on preparation for going abroad, English related grades, and the selection of target schools. As a "visitor", they will share their true feelings with their younger siblings.

2. Analysis of the Effect of Peer Counseling and Education for Student Party Members

'Student Role Models, Leading Forward' - Widely exerting the exemplary role of party members, establishing a good image of student party members in the student group of the Information Science Department, guiding students to have correct learning concepts and thoughts, enhancing the sense of responsibility and belonging of branch party members, exercising the organizational and expression abilities of student party members, and promoting the comprehensive development of students in the Information Science Department.

2.1 Effectiveness of Party Member's Class Introduction and Education

The feedback effect of the two class introductions was good, and many new students had a clear understanding of joining the Party and professional learning. This presentation promoted the spirit of ownership among party members and students, and utilized the advantages of professional expertise. Currently, it is only a passive service state, so taking this opportunity can strengthen students' awareness of actively serving teachers and students. Through the comparison of two speeches, the dissatisfaction of party members' speeches has significantly decreased, and the standardization and quantity of student application forms for joining the party have been significantly improved. The timeliness and quality of the Youth League branch's communication on the connection of party and youth work have been greatly improved.

2.2 Student Party Member Scholarship Winners Propaganda and Education Effectiveness

Using exemplary demonstration points to drive all students to actively improve. But in this process, it is also necessary to grasp the core of the party member's preaching to avoid bias among other student groups, such as thinking that becoming a party member can earn a scholarship, or that after obtaining various scholarships, one can join the party, and other inappropriate ideas. Student party members must focus on how they gradually strive for the scholarship, put in effort and perseverance, and pass on good ideas to their classmates.

2.3 Interview and Education Effectiveness of Student Party Members Volunteers

In the security service, student party members feel the service spirit of party members in serving the people and the society, and show this spirit and good style to ordinary student groups, show the excellent noble character and quality of student party members in Serve the People, let students feel that everyone is extraordinary, as long as there is love in the heart, can make their own contributions to society, Maximize the exemplary role of party members. The Party branch is also paying attention to guiding students to enter the grassroots, understand the national conditions, contribute to society, cultivate and enhance the social service awareness of student Party members, and encourage more student Party members to establish correct life values in the process of developing and cultivating Party members.

2.4 Graduation Grade Excellent Student Party Member Employment Sharing and Education Effectiveness

Graduation class party members provide reference for junior students and other grades, allowing seniors and sisters to share their experiences, bringing in students' sense of distance, increasing their sense of authenticity, and being more able to set a targeted example. Clear some confusion for some students who are still hesitant or struggling. And conducting interviews with third year party members and comrades is more meaningful and distinctive, able to ask key questions and practical guiding questions.

2.5 Practical Enlightenment on the Education and Management of College Student Party Members in Peer Guidance for Student Party Members

One is to enable student party members to take on the role of auxiliary personnel in student management work, and fully leverage the subject status of the educated. The practice of education and management of college student Party members is carried out in the form of peer counseling and model demonstration, which is based on the full progressiveness and subjective initiative of college student Party members. In the process of tutoring corresponding groups, through the educational form of experiential preaching and resurfacing, student Party members can constantly promote their self-improvement and improvement. Thus, it can better achieve the role of mentoring among party members and peers.

The second is to attach importance to the response of the assistance group during the peer counseling process. This assistance implements a "1+x" assistance mechanism, where a student party member branch corresponds to multiple assistance groups and objects. Therefore, in this process, it is necessary to strengthen the attention to the assistance groups, receive timely and authentic feedback and evaluation, in order to promote the improvement and improvement of student party members' peer guidance, and achieve better results.

2.6 Actively Utilize the Excellent Mechanism of Party Building Leading Youth League Building to Promote Class Building

In all the lectures, especially for the freshmen class, the party members and the class's Youth League branch are the most closely connected, emphasizing the establishment of a collaborative mechanism. The party branch, Youth League branch, and class committee work together to maximize the effectiveness of the party members' class lectures, and provide more targeted lectures. During this process, the class's self-management and self-service abilities are improved, Lay a solid foundation for future class construction.

References:

- [1] Li Xinyu Research on the Pioneer and Model Role of Student Party Members in Higher Vocational Colleges under the New Situation [J] Think Tank Era, 2020 (2): 2
- [2] Zhang Jing How student party members can play a pioneering and exemplary role in adaptability education for new students [J] Science and Education Guide, 2011 (28): 2
- [3] Liu Qing Research on the Role of Volunteer Service in Improving the Moral Quality of College Students two thousand and twenty